Championship Golf Hainan

China's #1 and #2 ranked golf courses. One of the world's rare black-lava championship layouts. Five days across Hainan, fully built end to end.

5 NIGHTS · 3 CHAMPIONSHIP ROUNDS

A WORD FROM US

Mission Hills Haikou has ten 18-hole championship courses on one property — for this trip, we select two of the best. Lava Fields brings the raw volcanic look: black lava rock, wide strategic fairways, tournament scale. Blackstone is ranked China's #1 and a Golf Digest World Top 100 — the course where Tiger Woods and Rory McIlroy went head-to-head. Then the trip moves down the east coast to The Dunes at Shenzhou Peninsula, China's #2 — true coastal links above the South China Sea.

Surf China Co. is a Virtuoso member agency — part of the global network behind the world's leading luxury travel advisors. The planning, the access, and the resources on the ground all run at that standard.

Four courses. Two luxury resorts. One coastline.

THE TRIP • 5 NIGHTS / 6 DAYS

Five days, fully built.

Three nights at The Ritz-Carlton, Haikou at Mission Hills, with rounds at Lava Fields and Blackstone and volcanic mineral springs recovery. Then two nights down the coast at Grand Hyatt Shenzhou Peninsula — links golf at The Dunes, played at its own pace. Private Executive Van throughout, caddies on every round, suite upgrades on request — fully handled end to end.

MISSION HILLS HAIKOU

The raw volcanic opener — black lava rock and wide fairways across the world's rarest golf landscape.

Lava Fields is the star of Mission Hills Haikou's southern courses: a Brian Curley championship layout carved across an ancient lava field. The fairways are generous, but the angles are the game — rugged waste bunkers and black-rock edges reward the brave line. A big, cinematic start to the trip, with the mineral springs waiting when the round is done.

THE MATCH AT MISSION
HILLS

The signature championship course — and the reason Mission Hills Haikou is world-famous.

Blackstone is one of the world's rare black-lava championship courses: a dramatic layout through lakes, wetlands, mature trees and volcanic rock, with serious tournament energy. This is the course where Tiger Woods and Rory McIlroy went head-to-head — a true bucket-list round with real history, world-class design, and a setting you simply don't find anywhere else.

Coastal links golf — sea breeze, natural sand movement, South China Sea views.

Few golf courses in China have a setting like The Dunes. Built along the coast and shaped by natural sand dunes, ocean wind and dramatic bunkering, it delivers a true links experience with a tropical island edge. Designed by Tom Weiskopf and Phil Smith, the course feels raw, cinematic, and deeply connected to the landscape. After the round, the day closes with a private drive on the Hainan Coastal Scenic Highway — Shimei Bay, Riyue Bay, and the quiet beaches of the peninsula.
